Unfortunately can't attend your next meeting, that being the case would like to get my 2 cents in. I think, without any more option and changes, that we look great the way we are, we have thrown a lot of changes to RR homeowners in the past few years and I think we should "cool it a little bit". Though, if your committee and membership are behind these changes then I am behind you too. I must say though I do not like the idea of all porch railings (front or back) being being a color-requirement of the homeowner. Each homeowner should have a choice to use their pick of the Chosen combinations, Thanks
